

SUNDAY LID

A CANTON RUMOR
FROM ALLIANCEReport of Saloons Closing on SundayStatements by Secretary and President of the Local Liquor League.
Mayor Says There May Be Something Doing.

The Alliance Leader, owned by the Morgan Engineering company, makes an effort to publish news from Canton and on Wednesday published the following editorial item:

"The Liquor Dealers' association of Canton has notified Mayor Turnbull that beginning with the first of the coming month all its members will obey the Sunday closing law and all other regulations, and that its members, which include 95 per cent of the saloonkeepers of the city, will aid the authorities in detecting violators. This is in line with a policy outlined by the Brewers' association and which is being put into practice in many of the cities of the state."

When interviewed by a News reporter William C. Widder, the secretary of the local Liquor Dealers' league denied that there was any foundation for the item saying that no action of such a nature had been taken by the association and that it had never come before any of their meetings.

Mr. Widder was then told that the item carried above had been published in an Alliance paper. He said that Alliance was not in Canton and insisted that the matter had not been brought to the attention of the league. He said that if the matter had been discussed at all he would know about it and so far he was ignorant of it. He did say, however, that Nick Deutle, the secretary of the State Liquor association, had made a flying visit to the city and that the members of the local association had been called together to meet him. Mr. Widder said that Mr. Deutle had addressed the association on the probability of the county local option law being passed at the next session of the state legislature. He intimated that the state official had talked of what was necessary in order to forestall the agitation which will be undoubtedly raised in favor of the passage of the law.

David Harris, the president of the local association, when asked about the rumor said there was nothing to it. He stated that the meeting had been held for the purpose as stated by Mr. Widder and that the local question had not been discussed.

It has been rumored, however, that a meeting will follow that of Tuesday when the matter of closely following the law in regard to Sunday closing will be taken up. This rumor gains credibility in the face of the fact that the big brewing combines are interesting themselves in the enforcement of the law. That this is the case has gradually become known. The reason for this is said to be that the men in control of the big breweries feel that some step toward a better living up to the law is necessary in order to shut off the constant agitation against the saloon business which is usually based on the theory that a large majority of the men interested in this business are consistent violators of the laws governing their business. In this connection the following dispatch giving the sentiment of the head of the great Anheuser-Busch Brewing association will be of interest.

"The Anheuser-Busch Brewing association of St. Louis is one of the biggest manufacturers of beer in this country. Like other breweries, it has a hand in the retail sale of its product through owning or controlling saloons and beer gardens in many parts of the country. And, of course, in many of its resorts the law is systematically and unconsciously violated."

"The other day the head of this firm announced that he was tired of this law-breaking and proposed to rid himself of all connection with it. He announced that he would close every place over which he had control where the manager was found guilty of violations of law and where any crime was committed."

"This announcement has quickly been followed by the closing of a beer garden and resort at Belleville, Ill. It is safe to say if this particular place is reopened it will be under a manager who will content himself with such activities as the law allows."

Late last night Mayor Turnbull was seen in regard to the truth of the item in the Alliance paper reproduced above. He said frankly that he had not been approached on the subject, and that there was not a word of truth in it so far as he knew. In conclusion he said, "There's no need for them to say anything to me. I have a few ideas of my own on this matter which will shortly be brought to the attention of the public."

OIL TRUST OFFICIAL

Who Was Long in Service of Standard Dies—Was in Cleveland for Many Years.

Orange, N. J., Nov. 27.—George H. Vilas, for many years general auditor of the Standard Oil company, and secretary of many of its subsidiary companies died today at his residence, 274 Springdale avenue, East Orange. He had been in poor health for several years and relinquished active business on this account. He was born in Ogdensburg, N. Y., 72 years ago, and had lived in East Orange about 20 years. Two sons and a daughter survive him. The services will be held on Friday afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. Wm. P. Taylor, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The body will be taken for interment to Cleveland, O., where Mr. Vilas lived for many years until the principal operations of the Standard Oil company were transferred to New York.

WAR

Has Been Declared on
Taft by the Foraker-
Dick Element

KURTZ MAY LEAD FIGHT

Columbus, O., Nov. 27.—All doubt of the intentions of Senator Josepa Benson Foraker and of his colleague, Senator Charles Dick regarding the attempt to capture the solid Ohio presidential delegation for Secretary of War Taft was removed today when John R. Malloy, secretary of the Republican state executive committee and designated by the senators to represent them personally in Ohio's coming bitter political struggle, declared war on Secretary Taft. Mr. Malloy's statement defining his attitude, which is that of the senators and of the portion of the party in Ohio which cleaves to the senatorial alliance, so-called, accuses Secretary Taft of an unnamed advisor of refusing to agree to a compromise by which Taft should have presidential endorsement, Foraker another term in the senate and Governor Harris a second term.

Malloy makes clear the intention of the senators and their followers to fight in each congressional district, and a hint is dropped that the Foraker forces are to be led by Charles Kurtz, with indications of victory in at least five districts. In his statement Malloy says Senator Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, was commissioned to bring about the peace between Taft and Foraker and thought for a time he had succeeded. It is asserted Secretary Taft and his brother, C. P. Taft, were favorable to the peace but an advisor not named overruled their wishes.

Three Men Killed by Train.

Special to Morning News.
East Liverpool, Nov. 27.—Becoming confused by the approach of trains going in both directions, two East End men, W. J. McClure, aged 44, and his nephew, Howard McClure, aged 27, were ground to pieces under an engine drawing a caboose a half mile east of Midland early this morning, and a colored man, Henry Redmond, also of the East End, was so badly injured that he died in a few minutes after having been hurriedly taken to the Rochester hospital.

Felon Betrayed Clerk's Shortage.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—On the charge of embezzling $2873 from the Western Union Telegraph company, of which he was a trusted employee, S. Wilbur Bowen, 1929 North 30th street, was this afternoon held in $1500 bail for court by Magistrate Scott at the central station. He confessed to the theft and made restitution of about $1470. A felon which prevented Bowen from working and led to the placing of a sub on his books betrayed the man.

BRADLEY CASE

GOES OVER THANKS-
GIVINGSensational Testimony by Utah LawyerHe Tells How Mrs.
Brown Tried to Kill
Bradley—Senator Proposed to Let Women
Fight it Out.

Washington, Nov. 27.—After hearing about 20 witnesses put upon the stand by the government in rebuttal, the case of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, on trial for the murder of Arthur Brown, once senator from Utah, was adjourned over Thanksgiving to be resumed on Friday morning. The most striking evidence today was that of Soren Christensen, a lawyer of Salt Lake. He accompanied Mrs. Brown when she followed the ex-senator and Mrs. Bradley to Brown's farm in Pocatello, Idaho, in 1902. He told how Mrs. Brown roused at Mrs. Bradley, grabbing her by the throat, and when the witness interfered the enraged wife exclaimed: "Let me alone, I want to kill her." At an all night interview which followed between Brown, his wife, Mrs. Bradley and Christensen, many sensational things happened. Brown denied the paternity of Max Brown, but acknowledged that he was the father of Mrs. Bradley's two sons. This so enraged Mrs. Brown that she said to the senator: "You low, vile degenerate, you deny the parentage of your own boy and take up with this," (pointing to Mrs. Bradley). Finally, said Lawyer Christensen, Mrs. Bradley offered to solve the problem by going away if Senator Brown would agree, but Brown refused to permit her to do so. Later he took Christensen aside and proposed that they both go away to San Francisco and let the women fight it out. At that time Brown had presented to Mrs. Bradley the revolver with which she afterward killed him. Brown, Christensen testified instructed Mrs. Bradley to shoot Mrs. Brown if the latter molested her. Archibald Livingstone, Brown's stenographer, admitted on cross examination that he frequently told falsehoods to Mrs. Bradley at Brown's direction.

"The truth would have hurt the senator," he said. He testified also that Brown would not allow Mrs. Bradley to go to Goldfield, Nev., to her people, when she proposed to do so because "the senator wanted to keep her under his control." Several newspaper reporters, policemen, hotel employees and two police matrons who saw Mrs. Bradley the night after the shooting, pronounced her "nervous, weak and pale," but none of them was willing to say that she was not sane. The police testimony was all to the effect that she talked coherently and appeared rational. The testimony of physicians at the detention hospital, where Mrs. Bradley was taken after the shooting, tended to combat the idea that Mrs. Bradley was suffering from certain physical disabilities which she had alleged in her story on the stand. The police matrons who searched her corroborated, in a measure, the doctors' testimony on this point. Judge Stafford ordered two young girls escorted from the courtroom today, declaring that the testimony was of such character that they ought not to be permitted to hear it. He gave orders to the police not to admit any more girls to the courtroom.

Gold Miners Refuse Script Payment.

Goldfield, Nevada, Nov. 27.—The entire camp is tied up because of the refusal of miners to accept cashiers' checks. Miners declare that Goldfield is the only gold camp in the country, not paying wages in coin. Miners have grumbled over accepting scrip but it was thought they would continue to receive it until specie payments could be resumed, but the local union of Western Federation of Miners last night decided to strike.

Petition Trial Opened Yesterday.

Boise, Ida., Nov. 27.—The trial of George A. Pettibone for alleged complicity in the murder of former Governor Frank Steunenberg began in the district court today. James H. Hawley, leading counsel for the state and Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, were present. Hawley briefly stated the case and immediately plunged into examination of the witnesses.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

An unknown man about 25 years of age, attempted to commit suicide last night about 6 o'clock by throwing himself in front of a McKinley avenue car on North McKinley avenue. The man was brought to the police station by Detective Brisbin and Officer Newell. There he created all kinds of excitement. He was bleeding from a cut on the nose profusely and when they attempted to wash the wound he became obstreperous and fought Turnkey Reed furiously. He was locked up after a struggle and Dr. Foulks, the city physician, summoned. He was finally quieted, after his shirt had been torn from his back. His actions on McKinley avenue were very strange. He ran through yards and the streets without a coat and gave all appearances of being demented. And when a car passed he made an attempt to jump in front of the car but failed and then he was taken into custody by the officers.

HOP GROWERS

Of Pacific Coast Will Organize to Regulate Markets and Prices.

Sacramento, Nov. 27.—An executive meeting of the delegates representing the hop growing districts of the state was held to perfect an organization modeled after that of the cotton growers of the southern states and the hemp growers of Mexico, for the mutual protection of the growers on the Pacific coast. It is contemplated not only to regulate markets and prices, but to finance all members of the association. Influential growers will visit the producing districts of California and as soon as this state is organized, they will visit Oregon and Washington, organizing the growers of these states, thereby perfecting a Pacific coast union which will control the entire output of hops of the Pacific coast.

BANKERS FIGHT CASE

New York, Nov. 27.—The whole question of the right of the police department to photograph and measure a prisoner against his will before conviction will be threshed out in court as a result of the attitude of the Brooklyn police toward the indicted bankers who have been arraigned on felony charges in the last week or so. Martin W. Littleton, counsel for William Gow, one of the indicted ex-directors of the Borough bank, obtained today from Supreme Court Justice Burr an order directing Police Commissioner Bingham, First Deputy Commissioner Arthur J. O'Keefe, who is in charge of the Brooklyn headquarters, acting Captain Kuhne of the Brooklyn detective bureau and Officer Farrell, who has charge of the rogues' gallery to show why a writ of mandamus should not be issued compelling the destruction of all pictures and measurement records of Gow now in the hands of the department. The order is returnable on Saturday.

Stephen Baldwin, counsel for Frank Jenkins, the indicted ex-president of the Williamsburg Trust company, applied to Justice Burr for an order directing acting Captain Kuhne to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court. This order was not issued today, but it may be on Friday which is the day set for the hearing on the habeas corpus writ which Kuhne had to obey on Tuesday after Frank Jenkins had been overpowered on the streets of Brooklyn and rushed to police headquarters. Mr. Littleton announced that he would also begin suits for damages against acting Captain Kuhne and other detectives who were concerned in the taking of Mr. Gow to headquarters.

Pinched for Prurient Pictures.

New York, Nov. 27.—Anthony Constock and Agent Bamberger of the society for the prevention of vice, assisted by Policemen Shea, today arrested three men charged with selling obscene pictures. One hundred and fifty arrests have been made, many thousands of cuts have been destroyed, and twelve tons of postal cards and pictures of an offensive nature have been turned into paper mills since January 1, 1907, yet the market continues flooded.

Once Great Horse Sold Cheap.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 27.—Lamplighter, a winner of nearly $600,000 on the turf and which great horse, Pierre Lordard once paid the late Captain S. S. Brown $30,000 for, was knocked down in the Fasig Tipton company's sale of thoroughbreds here today for a paltry $100.

Sewing Machine Agents Will Strike.

New York, Nov. 27.—The sewing machine agents' union at a general mass meeting today at Terrace Lyceum, completed preparations for a general strike tomorrow for the recognition of the union. The strike will be principally against the Singer company.

TRIUMPHANT

FINISH OF WESTON'S
WALKAged Pedestrian Beats
His Former RecordReceived an Ovation in Chicago—Big Crowds
Greeted Him—Challenges the World For a Walking Stunt.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Amid the tooting of siren whistles and the cheers of thousands of persons, Edward Payson Weston, sixty-nine year old pedestrian triumphantly finished at the Federal building today his long walk from Portland, Maine, to Chicago, in a great effort to eclipse the record he established forty years ago over the same route. The reception given the aged walker was that of a conquering hero. It was one equalled if it did not outdo any of the ovations given great men who have visited Chicago in the last decade. When Weston reached the "Loop" district, he was surrounded by a crowd numbering thousands. Extra police reserves were called to keep the throng in check. The uproar was deafening at times. Weston arrived at the Federal building at exactly 12:15 o'clock. He mounted the stone steps on the Jackson boulevard side and presented a letter to a committee representing Postmaster Campbell. Then he marched around the building, followed by the caravan of autos and a cheering multitude to Adams street, when he walked rapidly to the home of the Illinois Athletic club in Michigan avenue. He reached the clubhouse at 12:25 and spoke to the crowd from the balcony.

"Within a week, I will be ready to repeat this walk," he said. "I challenge the world for such a walk, and am ready to start after a week's rest." Then he thanked the people of Chicago for the ovation accorded him.

"I wish to thank the police and fire department for their courteous treatment," he added, "and I can never thank Chicago citizens enough for the welcome they have given me this morning."

At the Illinois Athletic club Weston was literally carried up the stairs to the balcony. After his address to the crowd he descended and sent a few telegrams to friends, telling them of the successful termination of his walk.

"I completed 1375 miles when I arrived at the postoffice," said Weston. "I did the distance in just forty-one hours less than when I walked it forty years ago. In my walk this time I have lost eighteen pounds. I cannot say that I have been extremely tired. In all walking I do not get tired, but sleepy. Food is the only thing that will remedy that. After I eat something when on the road, I always feel better. That is why I ask for food when I get sleepy on a long jaunt. I want to thank the police and the people for all the kindness they have shown me. But this ovation is not to Edward Payson Weston, but to a representative Yankee."

Currency Payments Being Resumed.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary Cortelyou made the statement today to a committee of the trades league of Philadelphia, representing the business and financial interests of that city, that reports from various sections of the country during the past 48 hours were of the most encouraging character and that a number of the other large centers were already gradually resuming currency payments.

College Romance is Culminated.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 27.—A romance resulting from the victory of the Yale crew over Harvard in 1902, was revealed here tonight when it became known that Cornelius J. (Con) Daly, former Yale oarsman, is to marry at St. Patrick's cathedral in New York on December 2, Miss Margaret Beck, a Cleveland society girl. Daly was one of the strongest men that ever handled a sweep in a Yale crew. Miss Beck was a spectator at the 1902 race and met Daly after it.

STANDARD OIL

Won Victory Over City of Indianapolis in Fight Over Short Measure Question.

Indianapolis, Nov. 27.—The Standard Oil company won a victory over this city today in the long contested case arising out of selling oil from wagons. The city demanded the right to inspect the cans and on several occasions arrested the drivers and the local manager for selling short measure. These cases were appealed and today the superior court held that the cans in which the Standard delivers oil are "containers," and not measures and that on this account it is not necessary that each can be inspected and sealed by the inspector of weights and measures, but that the city may determine that the machinery used in filling the cans is accurate.

BOY PHENOM'S

Manager Is Again in Toils Being Arrested Immediately After His Discharge by Court.

Lisbon, O., Nov. 27.—A. J. Adams, against whom a charge of having practiced medicine without a license was preferred in probate court last week, only to be dismissed at the cost of the state when it was called up for trial, went through the same process today on a second charge, and is still languishing in the county jail, this time on a third charge.

The first action against Adams, who was manager of the "Boy Phenomenon," a licensed physician, originated in Wellsville, and when the charge was dismissed in probate court he was immediately re-arrested on a warrant from Mayor Blake's court in East Liverpool charging a like offense.

This charge was also dismissed today and immediately Adams was again arrested on an information from East Liverpool, and in the court of Mayor George T. Farrell here was put under bond of $200, in default of which he was remanded to the county jail, where he has been detained since a day or so after his second arrest. The case will come up before Mayor Farrell some time Monday.

Elopers Caught by Wise Cop.

Cambridge, O., Nov. 27.—Mrs. Geo. Armbruster, 21, wife of the owner of a bakery here, and Arthur Wilson, carpenter, who has a wife and children, were captured by the police at Belleaire Wednesday and brought back to Cambridge.

The two intended to take a Baltimore & Ohio train, but missed it. They then hired a rig and drove to Love City, two miles away and caught a later train. Officer Meredith followed and intercepted them.

Jail Breakers Make Getaway.

New Cumberland, W. Va., Nov. 27.—Sheriff A. F. Wilkin, aroused at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, discovered three men trying to get prisoners out of the county jail.

Armed with shotguns, he and his son, William, attacked them, calling on them to surrender.

Instead they ran. Shots followed them, but they escaped.

Bad Company Youth's Downfall.

Akron, Nov. 27.—"Bad company is responsible for my downfall," said Harry Elliott Wednesday.

Indicted for grand larceny, Elliott pleaded guilty Wednesday.

"How did you come to go wrong?" Judge Wanamaker asked him.

"Bad company is the cause," said the young man.

He was then sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory.
